

My journey

How it started..

I was never much of a creative person. My parents were the ones who pushed me to explore my creative side. My mother has been my greatest inspiration and my father has been my biggest supporter throughout my artistic journey.

During the pandemic I got to explore more of my artistic skills, and I attended various art classes and took part in competitions too. As and when I took part in competitions and received appreciation for my work I got more confidence to keep going.

And since then I started taking part in various competitions so as to recognise my interests. I then realised that my area of interest is Art. There are different forms of art and I have more interest in drawing.

My Acheivements

Currently I love doing Mandala art. A mandala is a piece of art comprised of geometric patterns and symbols. In Sanskrit, mandala translates to mean circle or center. The word mandala has particular meanings in spiritual practices in the way it represents one's own spiritual journey from the outside of oneself inward.

I am proud to say that today I have come a long way and have taken part in competitions and won prizes in a few. On 24th February 2024 I had taken part in a competition organised by TALENT MELA with the theme women emepowerment and I secured 2nd place receiving a medal and a certificate.

A few months back I also started learning Digital art. With all the support and encouragement from my family friends and school i have been able to come this far. I hope to continue learning new things and explore more of myself.
